

The no-call list helped us a great deal, but we had already used caller ID and an answering machine prior which also helped. We have now gone completely to cell phone usage with the exception of our FAX which is on our home number. We have heard some rumblings about solicitors calling cell phones. I do hope this practice does not start as we are paying for those calls and that would upset me greatly.